Planco looks at phased option for Bottoms grow

Kevin L. Hoover
MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA BOTTOM/EUREKA – The Board of Supervisors last week sent advocates of a proposed 8-acre industrial cannabis grow on the Arcata Bottom back to the drawing board. They're to return for a re-hearing with new odor control and downsizing options plus possible phase-in of a larger grow, possibly starting with just one or two acres.

A multi-hour hearing on Tuesday, June 22, saw an appeal of the Planning Commission's April 22 approval of the Arcata Land Co.'s Conditional Use Permit application for the grow. The appeal alleged false information and faulty analyses in the project application and staff reports, concern over water use, energy usage, traffic, odor impacts and more. The appellants, generally associated with the citizens' group Team 27th, insist that an EIR be required for the project.

Planco considers two new Bottoms cell towers

MAD RIVER UNION
ARCATA BOTTOM – The county Planning Commission will hear applications for two new cell phone towers for the Arcata Bottom at its Thursday, July 1, 6 p.m. hearing.

Tower 1 is proposed by PWM, Inc., requiring a Conditional Use Permit for a 100-foot tall freestanding lattice tower to carry up to four different carriers, occupying about 3,000 sq. ft. The site is owned by Shirley Butler, and is zoned Agricultural Exclusive (AE)

Reopening offers tenuous normality as cases rise

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – The state's June 15 reopening has restored a sense of normality but the pandemic's end is not in sight and the county's health officer has said a recent rise in COVID-19 cases may continue.

During a June 22 COVID update to the Board of Supervisors, Health Officer Dr. Ian Hoffman reported that COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations have risen.

Hoffman told supervisors that just prior to reopening, the county's case rate saw "drops to lows that we hadn't seen in many months."

But the lull didn't last long and Hoffman said the hike in cases – combined with increased social activity – suggest that "we might see another increase in cases over the coming weeks or months."

The county's case rate hit a low of about three cases per 100,000 residents and at the time of the meeting it had increased to five per 100,000.

The testing positivity rate rose from three percent to six percent.

Hoffman said 13 people were in hospital care with COVID-19.

With the combination of the lifting of public health mandates and an incomplete vaccination rate, "A bump in cases is to be expected," he continued.

The rising case rate and hospitalizations were flagged by Supervisor Mike Wilson, who warned residents against going unvaccinated.

"Thirteen hospitalizations currently – that is just so significant," he said. "Every one of those people were unvaccinated and they were infected by other people who were unvaccinated."

Persistent pandemic

The future of the pandemic is uncertain, as drops in U.S. case rates are offset by surges in other countries.

And the virus continues to evolve

The HSU Bookstore is moving to the Tri-Counties Bank building on the Plaza

HUMBOLDT STATE UNIVERSITY
ARCATA – The former Tri-Counties Bank property on the Arcata Plaza will be the new home of the HSU Bookstore. The property is on the southeast corner of 8th and G streets. Remodeling work will begin soon, with the goal of a soft opening in time for the holidays.

There will be a grand opening early in the semester in Spring 2022. In addition to Humboldt State merchandise and books by HSU authors, plans call for carrying branded items from College of the Redwoods, local high schools, and others to create a shared community.

Moving downtown will be valuable for the university and the community. A downtown location will provide numerous benefits that students, community members, and visitors have been asking for.

HSU has been working with the community to find ways for students, many of whom travel from more urban areas, to connect with and feel welcome in the community.

The new location will help. With HSU merchandise, and the ability to hold student and community-centered events like guest lectures and mixers, students will have a welcoming space in the heart of Arcata.

The move also opens up the current Bookstore space, which students have been requesting to use for lounge space, activities, and entertainment.

The Bookstore will maintain its current warehouse space on campus for receiving and picking up textbooks, along with handling textbook rentals, and the University is exploring delivering textbooks to students in residence halls.

The College Creek Marketplace on campus will continue to sell HSU Bookstore items in the store and expand upon the current selection.

The property was purchased by the Humboldt State University Foundation as an investment and as a service to the campus. It will lease the space and associated parking to the University.

Follett will continue managing the Bookstore, bringing its specially branded HSU merchandise and other items for store visitors.

County eyes ballot measures for 2022 election

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT — Humboldt County is hiring a consulting firm to tap public opinion on potential ballot measures, including a follow-up to the Measure S cannabis excise tax and a hotel bed tax increase to benefit the arts community.

COVID-19 impacts, including impacts to the arts and culture economy, and a recent court decision that changes Measure S taxation figure into potential ballot measures for the June 2022 election.

The county is considering changes to its Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT) or hotel bed tax, Measure S and reauthorization or increase of its abandoned vehicle abatement fee.

At the June 15 Board of Supervisors meeting Deputy County Administrative Officer Sean Quincy said the county is in a “post-COVID recovery environment” and has a responsibility to “maintain the services the public and its local business community rely on.”

Ballot measures play a role in that, he continued, and “there are a number of update and reform issues that have been identified by staff and/or stakeholders that could warrant placing proposals on the ballot for voters to decide.”

Up for board approval was authorizing the county’s longtime consulting firm, Lew Edwards Group, to do public opinion polling and having staff return with ballot measure options for the 2022 election.

On Measure S, excise tax calculations from 2017 to 2021 were deemed illegal in a recent court decision, entitling refunds for overpayment.

“There appears to still be much confusion and lack of a streamlined process to calculate these tax bills,” said Quincy.

His department recommends “researching the community’s interest in a measure to update, clarify and streamline this process without raising current tax rates.”

The hotel room tax is now set at 10 percent and an increase would have to be approved by voters.

Treasurer-Tax Collector John Bartholomew said one of the tourism-related industries that would benefit from increased TOT revenue is the arts community.

“The pandemic has affected all of our lives but in particular many people that support tourism-based activities such as the performing arts and arts in general,” he told supervisors. “They have really just been hammered by COVID.”

He added that with “their ability to continue on” affected, the arts community is “one group that should be considered for possible sharing of some of the revenue that comes from transient occupancy taxes.”

Supervisor Steve Madrone also vouched for support of local arts. “I would love to see some of these funds go to our arts community,” he said. “Our redwoods, our cannabis and our arts community is a huge part of what attracts people to Humboldt County.”

Madrone said he wants to “make sure that we keep the arts community in mind and figure out any way we might be able to further support those efforts in our community.”

On the abandoned vehicle fee, the county now charges $1 per vehicle registration. The fee will have to be reapproved by voters in 2022.

Supervisor Rex Bohn noted the costs involved with abatements of abandoned trailers and vehicles filled with garbage and he asked if the fee can be raised to $3 or $4.

Quincey said that can be “looked into” when the consulting firm does its polling.

Supervisors approved hiring the firm, with a cost cap of $200,000.

Grow | Appealed

The meeting began with assigned Planner Rodney Yandell dismissing the appellants’ principal objections as unsubstantiated. A staff report recommended upholding the Planco’s approval.

Applicant Lane Devries of Arcata Land Co. reiterated the need for the grow operation to subsidize Sun Valley Floral Farm, which is facing severe headwinds in the troubled cut flower industry.

He cited Sun Valley’s extensive contributions to the community, and to county coffers via employment and taxes. But he urged that the project be approved “on its merits.”

Land Use consultant Jordan Mains reviewed the pro-grow arguments, saying the project’s impacts are thoroughly mitigated and that it more than satisfies all legal requirements.

He further revealed a new “state of the art” air filtration system intended for use on the grow. Made by Byers Scientific, the “vapor-phase odor control system” was described as being used successfully in Santa Barbara County.

Team 27th members Jim Cotton presented the opponents’ case, repeating demands for an EIR and calling the existing mitigations inadequate. Paula Proctor urged protection of Arcata’s greenbelt and its agricultural and residential assets.

While Supervisor Rex Bohn lamented the project’s downsizing and urged project approval, other supervisors were less enthusiastic.

Third District Supervisor Mike Wilson wasn’t willing to approve a project larger than one acre, or two at the most, to be consistent with the intent of the General Plan. He said even a one-acre “pilot” grow would be lucrative as part of a phased implementation at the site.

Devries said he might consider 5.7 acres as a first step, but that the one- or two-acre proposal, coupled with numerous conditions and mitigations, was “very disappointing.”

After lengthy discussion and with participants weary after the day-long meeting, Supervisors voted 4-1, with Bohn dissenting, to have staff discuss options with the applicant and return for reconsideration July 13.

MCKMAC MEETING CANCELED

The monthly meeting of the McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee, scheduled for today, Wednesday, June 30, is canceled. McKMAC Chair Maya Conrad explained the cancellation in an email, stating “This month’s regular meeting is canceled for two reasons: progress on some of our most important topics is taking longer than we had expected; and I have been extremely busy at work and haven’t had time to work on an agenda with alternate topics. I am sorry for the last-minute cancellation and will miss seeing all of you this month. We hope to have a robust July meeting and look forward to seeing you all then.”

Towers | Staff recommends just one be approved and Agricultural General.

Tower 2 is proposed by New Cingular Wireless off Foster Avenue and involves a Special Permit for a 130-foot tall, freestanding faux water tower facility on property owned by the Arcata Land Co., which will hold up to two different carriers. The site is zoned Agricultural Exclusive (AE); Heavy Industrial (MH) Qualified (Q).

States a staff report, “Planning staff is bringing these applications forward to the Planning Commission as one item because the Humboldt County General Plan requires towers to be designed to minimize the visual clutter of multiple towers through screening and co-location.

Staff’s recommendation is that the Planning Commission approve only one of the applications.

Issues identified for Tower 1 include tower height, aesthetics, coverage objectives and compliance with FCC exposure limits for radio frequency (RF) energy.

The staff report states that all antennas would be mounted within the faux water tank atop the tower. The tank would be built of a “rustic” dark wood material and color.

The tower would be about 1,500 feet from the City of Arcata. The closest off-site residences are located about 400 feet southwest from the site, and about 550 feet north of the Saint Mary Roman Catholic Church and Fuente Nueva Charter School. Those locations would have views of the tower, which would be only partly screened by trees along roadway edges.

Tower 2

Issues identified for Tower 2 include tower height, aesthetics, coverage objectives and compliance with FCC exposure limits for RF energy.

States a staff report, the closest off-site residences are on parcels adjoining the project site, located about 650 feet south from the proposed tower. These homes would have partial views of the upper portion of the tower, screened by a row of trees and shrubs at their northerly property line.

The tower would have partial visibility from lands in the Arcata area to the east; the closest lands in the city are approximately 3,500 feet away. Views of the tower from city vantage points would be partially obscured by the adjoining warehouses to the east, trees along roadway and by overall distance.

Team 27th

Opponents of Arcata Land Co.’s proposed cannabis grow, organized as Team 27th, are keenly interested in the proposed cell towers. The group has identified several potential impacts related to concerns about possible runaway re-industrialization of the Arcata Bottom.

COVID | Businesses may continue precautions into versions that are significantly more contagious and deadly. The latest one to cause surges, even in countries with good vaccination rates, is known as the Delta variant.

Its ascent has prompted the World Health Organization to advise even fully vaccinated people to continue wearing masks. The Delta variant makes up 20 percent of U.S. cases and is expected to become a dominant strain.

New versions of the virus are also chipping away at vaccine and medical treatment effectiveness, although it’s believed that vaccines still prevent variants from causing severe illness and death.

That may be temporary, however, and researchers and manufacturers are scrambling to develop booster doses and potentially more effective vaccines.

Optional rules

With the state’s reopening, previous business capacity and social distancing requirements are lifted and vaccinated residents are no longer required to wear masks. But businesses have the option to continue to maintain those precautions.

They’re required to post masking and other rules with signage and anticipating some resistance, Board Chair Virginia Bass asked residents to respect what businesses and other venues request.

Hoffman noted that new workplace regulations are also in effect, with employers required to “document the vaccination status of each employee.”

Employers have options on how to do it. They can allow employees to “self-attest” their vaccination status, require proof of it or dispense with it and just require everybody in the workplace to wear masks.

The county is among the employers that will follow the new rules. Human Resources Director Linda Le said that with a workforce of 2,400 people, implementing the new standards will be a “monumental” task.

Last week saw confirmation of 73 more COVID-19 cases, bringing the county’s total to 4,533. There were nine more hospitalizations, bringing that total to 208.

Two more residents, both over 80 years old, died of COVID-19 with the death total reaching 50.

McKinleyville’s burly, brandishy Saturday night

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE

MCKINLEYVILLE — On Saturday, June 26 at about 1:55 p.m., Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputies were dispatched to the 2600 block of Clay Road in McKinleyville for the report of a male subject brandishing a firearm.

The victim told Emergency Communications Dispatchers that while driving by a residence on the 1100 block of Hunts Drive in McKinleyville, a male subject outside the residence, later identified as 20-year-old Juan Carlos Newman, brandished a firearm at the victim.

The victim, whose family was inside the vehicle, drove home. Newman reportedly followed the victim’s vehicle, arrived outside the victim’s residence and attempted to gain entry inside the home.

The victim and her family hid inside and contacted law enforcement, while another male suspect, later identified as 21-year-old Dawson Morris Geanoules, arrived outside the residence.

Deputies responded to the residence and located

Newman and Geanoules outside.

Both were taken into custody without incident and found to be in possession of loaded firearms.

Newman was booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on charges of exhibiting a firearm, carrying a loaded firearm in a public place, false imprisonment, criminal threats, manufacturing a firearm without a serial number and conspiracy to commit a crime.

Geanoules was booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on charges of exhibiting a firearm, carrying a loaded firearm in a public place, false imprisonment, criminal threats, manufacturing a firearm without a serial number and conspiracy to commit a crime.

This case is still under investigation.

Anyone with information about this case or related criminal activity is encouraged to call the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office at (707) 445-7251 or the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539.

Come and meet Sparky and Rusko at Arcata’s Fourth of July Parade

Summer holidays are here and the living is easy, unless it is the Fourth of July and you are a cat or a dog. The Fourth and the days before and after can be a pretty traumatic time for your pets. It’s always a good idea to review a few safety tips about now.

The first item on the list is to make sure your pets are wearing ID tags with current information. Keep your pets securely inside; scary loud noises can send a dog escaping the yard that safely contains them every other day of the year.

Even the dogs that don’t mind the noise (Hank is one of those) can be injured by stray sparks if they are outside when home fireworks are set off.

Lots of folks leave the radio or TV on for some white noise in the house. CBD oil, thunder shirts or calming aids from the pet store can help, but consult your vet in advance if the Fourth causes very high anxiety for your dog or cat.

The county shelter is closed from the 3rd to the 5th of July but do still call and leave a message if your pet is lost or if you find a loose pet on those days. The number there is (707) 840-9132.

It can be very helpful to send lost or found pet info to the Humboldt Paws Cause Facebook page as well. Many animals are reunited through the aid of social media.

In happier Fourth of July news, we are hoping to bring Sparky the Kinetic Foster Dog to Arcata’s Fourth of July Parade!

❖ DOGTOWN
Mara Segal

Sparky is traditionally accompanied by adoptable dogs and we hope that a few will be allowed to join Sparky in this parade.

The parade starts at the Creamery at noon and proceeds up to the Plaza for a couple of laps. Come on out and cheer Sparky on!

One of the dogs that you might see at the parade is Rusko. Rusko is an easygoing two year old neutered male dog. He is friendly with other dogs and really loves a good game of fetch.

Rusko walks well on the leash and only pulls when he sees the play yard (aka the fetching zone).

He knows sit and some other commands and listens well. He hasn’t braved the wading pool yet but he is one of those dogs that will park his ball in the water while taking a drink!

Come on up and say hi if you see Rusko in the parade; you can also meet him by calling the shelter at the number above and making an appointment.

Last year at this time we had reduced the shelter population to five dogs by recruiting fosters at the onset of the lockdown. That was such a successful program that we are initiating a summer version.

If you might be interested in “borrowing” a dog for a bit and giving them a break from the shelter, please contact the shelter at (707) 840-9132 or email redwoodpalsrescue@gmail.com.

You can have the fun of a canine companion without the lifetime commitment!

The only catch is that we ask that you be available to bring your foster to the shelter if a potential adopter schedules a meet and greet.

Fosters would be given at least day’s notice and it would only be on a weekday. Feel free to email for more info.

A small town is a peculiar institution. Everybody knows everybody and everybody knows what the next guy is going to do next. It takes a lot of things to make a small town. It takes grocery stores. It takes some churches. It takes drygoods stores and auto agencies. It takes Parent Teacher Associations, lodges and Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions. It takes Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts. It takes the Masons, the Moose and other lodges, along with their auxiliaries. It takes elementary schools, high schools and, in our case, a college. It takes humanity and understanding. It takes teamwork as is now being displayed by the “Save Our Shay” committee. It takes a City Council, a police department and other small but efficient – for the most part anyway – government agencies... It also takes a weekly newspaper. We are the only newspaper in the world primarily concerned with Arcata and its people, its businesses and its industry... Our concern is grass roots... This is your community and the Arcata Union is your newspaper.

• HONORING THE LAND •

REOPENING AND RENEWING COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS
WEDNESDAY, JULY 14, 6 TO 8 P.M.

Dell'Arte, in partnership with members of the Wiyot Tribe, Two Feathers Native American Family Services, and Circus Nonsense will honor and acknowledge the ancestral lands of the Wiyot Tribe, the interconnected relationship of community, land and the time we have together.

A remembering; an honoring; a holding vigil; and a renewing of hope through a procession from Downtown Blue Lake to the Banks of the Baduwa't (Mad River); we are coming together as a community to acknowledge a year marked by double pandemics of racial injustice and COVID-19.

Out of the safety for our performers, partners, and community, a negative COVID-19 test results one week within July 13-18 OR a Vaccination Card is required to show at the door before entering the event venue. You will not be allowed to enter without this proof and you will not be refunded your ticket if you forget or do not bring this with you to the event or show it to us prior to the event. No exceptions.

What to bring: Vaccination card/negative COVID test results, blankets (for sitting and getting comfy), sun protection, money for concessions (yum!), and...friends (if you don't have any, that's cool...Dell'Arte has got you covered).

Baduwa't Festival: A Gathering of the People

Formerly known as the Mad River Festival, the Baduwa't Festival is a culmination of performing arts, music, celebration and connectivity, held on the ancestral lands of the Wiyot Tribe.

In Soulatluk, the Wiyot language, Baduwa't is the word for Mad River. The festival name change was approved by Wiyot leaders in Spring 2021.

Dell'Arte is honored to support the work of the Wiyot Tribe to revitalize the language by using the original name of the river for the festival name.

The festival will be held in Dadiqoughuk (Blue Lake) July 14 through 18 at Dell'Arte's spaces at 131 H St., with COVID-19 safety measures in place (remember to bring a mask).

Attendance will be limited and festival-goers are encouraged to purchase tickets in advance as much as possible.

MORE BADUWA'T FESTIVAL EVENTS, P. B2

Baduwa't

Baduwa't is the Wiyot name of the Mad River, and the changing of the name is to bring attention to the Wiyot Culture and People for their stewardship of the land for many thousands of years and to this present day. They are actively working to bring their language back and have not only given us permission to rename the festival, but are helping us to understand and speak the words as well.

Dell'Arte is a guest on their (unceded) ancestral homelands and we are hoping to be in 'right relationship' with the land and this place as practitioners of "Theatre of Place."

On Wednesday July 14 at 8:30 p.m. at the Baduwa't Festival, Join director Michelle Hernandez for a screening of her film Douk (16 minutes) online. Immediately following the film will be an artists Q and A with Hernandez and members of the production team.

The screening and talkback will be a virtual event. Website: doukfilm.com. Tickets are $10. All proceeds go toward The Bartow Project. For complimentary tickets for Wiyot Tribal members please send email to Michelle Hernandez: shellyhernandez89@gmail.com.

Join Michelle again the following day at 4:30 p.m. for "The Bartow Project: A Panel" in a discussion about "The Bartow Project" with family and friends of Wiyot artist Rick Bartow (1948-2016) to discuss his life, work and the community-engaged project between the Wiyot Tribe and Dell'Arte to bring his legacy to Humboldt County.

MADSUMMER

FEATURING THE DELL'ARTE HOUSE BAND

Saturday, July 17 • 5-7 p.m.

Madsummer is a first showing of a new project, which is a very free and loose jukebox musical adaptation of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, with all of the lovers over the age of 60, set in a nursing home during a pandemic with the staff of the home like Cirque on steroids (but making minimum wage).

The presentation of Madsummer will be followed by a Tribute to Timmy Gray, Dell'Arte's longtime composer and sound designer, who passed away in April 2021.

This will be a concert version with songs along with some short scene excerpts. The full play will be presented in Fall 2021. Songs for the summer include I Wanna Be Sedated, Old Friends, I Don't Look Good Naked Anymore, Older Ladies, and My Generation, among others.

The songs will be played by the Dell'Arte summer festival house band, Marla Joy, Tim Randles, Jeff Kelley and Mike Labolle.

This will be the first presentation of a new production company, Longshader, established by Dell'Arte Founder Michael Fields.

According to the Population Reference Bureau, the aging baby boom generation will fuel a 75 percent increase in older Americans requiring nursing home care to about 2.3 million people in 2030.

Informed by conversations with Humboldt Life Care.

SAN LUIS OBISPO –Arcata was somewhat quieter last weekend as the sounds of bleacher stomping, heckling and cheers for the home team were temporarily absent as the Humboldt Crabs were on a rare road trip.

They were off to San Luis Obispo to play a formidable team, the Blues, who had an impressive record of 10-1 coming into the weekend.

The Crabs had just swept a mid-week two game series against the Redding Tigers, a team created just to play Humboldt and led by former Crab Rich Jameway, who played with the team in 2004.

After the victorious series it was off to San Luis Obispo, and it started off with a bang in the form of a lead-off home run by Ethan Smith.

Crabs pitcher Kaden Riccomini had a strong game, pitching seven innings and only giving up two runs as Humboldt went on to take the series opener by a score of 8-3 and hand the Blues their second loss of the season.

And the Crabs would hang tough on Saturday with Luke Powell tying the game in the ninth inning with a triple. But the Blues had the last licks, and a fielding error helped them break the tie in the bottom of the ninth which gave them a 5-4 win.

And so Sunday's game was a tie-breaker in itself. The Crabs started pitcher Owen Stevenson who allowed only

Vaccination & a free ticket

“We’re glad to have games again and come back outside,” Kurt Medeiros said, standing in line for the COVID-19 vaccination clinic at the Arcata Ball Park on Saturday, June 19.

Me-deiros was there with his son, Corey, and his wife, Shannon Medeiros. The family lives in McKin-leyville and have been Crabs fans for over 26 years.

“We usually sit in the rowdy section, near the band,” Corey Medeiros

The Crab Grass Band is back!

Janine Volkmar
MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA– For many fans it is just not a ball game without the Crab Grass Band.

The 40-plus band members can play over 120 songs and they play them with gusto.

Band members are local musicians of all ages who play for the love of the Crabs. And they sing as well.

Because of COVID-19 concerns, the band has not played for the first 15 games. But that all changes on today, June 30. The band will be in its new spot, the short rows of bleachers in front of the Judo Hut, just past the snack bar.

That’s to protect young children in many band members’ families.

The band will be there on all Fridays and all Sundays and will alternate Tuesdays and Wednesdays. They will play the last Saturday of the season, August 7.

“The Crab Grass Band has been looking forward to returning to the ballpark for over a year. Thanks to the Crabs’ board and ballpark staff for helping increase safety for our members and families,” a band press release stated.

Community emerging from pandemic

With COVID restrictions loosening and summer in full swing, there seems to be a lot more activity in Bayside!

Last weekend's The Power of Pollinators Festival welcomed visitors to the Jacoby Creek School Garden and Jacoby Creek Land Trust Kokte Ranch and Nature Preserve for hands-on activities about bats, bees, dragonflies, birds, native and pollinator friendly plants, composting and more.

It takes a whole community to put on an event like this. Many thanks to Sue and Jim Moore, Stephanie Mietz, Sandra Hun von-Arb, Denise Seeger, Jessie Bunkley, Dan Gale and Boy Scout Troup #15, and Full Cycle Composting for planning and activities, and to Sequoia Zoo Foundation, Bayside Community Church, Mad River Gardens, It's Alive Kombucha and Bayside Community Hall for additional support.

The City of Arcata has set a scoping meeting for the Old Arcata Road Improvements Project on Thursday, July 1 from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the D Street Community Center. Those who are unable to attend may submit written comments to dfreitas@cityofarcata.org for inclusion in the administrative record and cc_comdev@cityofarcata.org.

Bayside Community Hall will have a volunteer work day on Tuesday, July 6 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Casandra Kelly will lead a crew in deep cleaning of the kitchen, and Sue Moore will work with a group on sprucing up the recently planted native garden. Stop by and volunteer for a bit. Every hour helps.

Coming up on Saturday, July 10 is Tacos by the Creek at Caudal Fin Farm. This event features tacos made with Shakefork Community Farm beef and vegetables grow at Caudal Fin Farm. It is a fundraiser for TRIB Research, a local non-profit that strives to connect local farms, fresh food, and fisheries research within our community.

TRIB's team includes farmer and fisheries ecologist Samantha Kannry, fisheries ecologist Sam Rizza and fisheries professional Jeff Abrams. Visit tribresearch.org to learn about their mission and, even more important, to order your tacos!

There is a new business in our community, Brainwash Thrift at #40 Sunny Brae Center. They are open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and are stocked with a variety of gently-used clothing and fun accessories. According to their Facebook page, the business is indigenous-owned and woman-owned, queer-safe and size-inclusive. I hope to meet the owner soon, and give you a full profile. In the meantime, you can easily find them on Facebook and Instagram, or just stop in to say hello.

And an update on the Bayside Hall legal struggle. As of the time of writing, the judge has still not set a bond amount for appeal. Community surveys are coming in. So far, there appears to be very little interest in the community in reviving a grange chapter for Bayside.

The Hall's attorneys will file a notice of intent to appeal by the June 28 deadline, so that we can continue to gather information from the community and await info about the bond. I have started a petition to the California State Grange asking that they pursue a compromise that declares local ownership of all current and former grange halls, and offers, in return, ongoing organization level support to the grange organization and any future local chapter.

You can check out all of this information, and get links to the survey and petition at baysidecommunity-hall.org.

Meet leader Elliott Dabill at 2 p.m. in front of the Interpretive Center (the building should be open to the public) on South G Street for a 90-minute walk focusing on marsh ecology. Masks are required inside the Interpretive Center but not outdoors on trails for attendees. For more information, call (707) 826-2359.

HUMBOLDT BAY BIRD TALK Redwood Region Audubon Society invites you to an online presentation on Friday, July 9, at 7 p.m., titled "Humboldt Bay: Premier Site of Conservation Importance to Shorebirds Along the Pacific Americas Flyway" with Mark Colwell. As quintessential migrants, many shorebirds wend their way between distant breeding and non-breeding grounds, stopping at key wetlands to refuel. Humboldt Bay is one of those critical sites along the Pacific Americas Flyway. Recently, the bay received added recognition within the Western Hemisphere Shorebird Reserve Network for its year-round importance to shorebirds. Mark will summarize the information justifying this recognition and address conservation threats that jeopardize shorebirds populations. Visit rras.org to obtain the Zoom presentation link.

The Tierney family of Manila came so that their son, Santiago Tierney, could be vaccinated. "I feel like it's going to protect me more," Santiago said. Fireworks show on the 4th

EUREKA MAIN STREET

EUREKA – Eureka Main Street regretfully announces that there will not be a 4th of July Festival in Old Town this year.

Eureka Main Street has historically hosted the 4th of July Festival event that usually encompasses a large portion of Old Town, featuring multiple music stages and roughly 100 vendor booths and other activities.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the festival was canceled last year. Planning an event of this size takes months of preparation.

When planning should have started this year Humboldt County was still in orange level of the California's Blueprint for a Safer Economy. Under those restrictions the festival would not have been allowed.

The uncertainty of what restrictions Humboldt County would be under at the time of the festival led the Eureka Main Street Board of Directors and City of Eureka to make the decision to cancel this year's event in the best interest of public safety.

Thankfully the restrictions have been lifted at this point but there was not enough time to pull together the event to the standards that everyone has come to expect and enjoy. Eureka Main Street is excited for the return of the 4th of July Festival next year, 2022!

The City of Eureka is planning to close Waterfront Drive and First Street beginning at 6 p.m. in preparations for the return of the 4th of July Fireworks. The fireworks show will start at 10 p.m. over Humboldt Bay.

Please remember that no fireworks of any kinds are permitted in Old Town, and the laws will be strictly enforced. We want to keep this a safe and fun holiday for everyone.

For more information please contact Eureka Main Street at (707) 442-9054.

two hits over 5 innings. They jumped out to a 3-0 lead when Gabe Giosso drove in two runs in the fifth inning, but the Blues would start chipping away. A two-run homer in the sixth made the score 3-2 and would be an omen that the long ball would be Humboldt's undoing.

The Crabs took their lead into the bottom of the eighth and had two out on the scoreboard when a guy named Vincent Bologna whacked the first pitch he saw over the fence for a two-run homer, putting the Blues on top 4-3, a lead they would hold on to and get the win.

But fear not Crabs fans, the team is still kicking butt. They hung tough and won a game on the road against an excellent team and hold an impressive record of 13 wins, 4 losses. They're bringing the noise back to Arcata and they're bringing the Crabgrass band with them so I hear.

It's going to be a celebration of America this coming holiday weekend with the Crabs playing the Solano Mudcats Friday-Sunday. Wednesday they host the Petaluma Leghorns But Tuesday they play the Perth Heat Perth! That's in Australia!

So you have time, beloved hecklers to get your Crocodile Dundee and Steve Irwin insults ready.

Otter sculptures help raise awareness

HUMBOLDT STATE UNIVERSITY
HUMBOLDT – The much-anticipated North Coast Otters have arrived! The North Coast Otters public art festival, treasure hunt, and online auction began last week.

North Coast Otters Public Arts Initiative is a community “treasure hunt” tour of more than 100 sculptures painted by local artists, with an aim to celebrate life, water, and otters, support local businesses, and raise funds for student projects.

North Coast Otters merges art and science, encouraging imagination and observation from our region’s rich and creative community.

The project commissioned 108 unique pieces of Otter Art now displayed at shops, galleries, schools and other North Coast locations. Participating artists decorated three-foot-tall otter sculptures for an educational art trail throughout Humboldt, Del Norte, Mendocino, Trinity, and Siskiyou counties.

Use the maps and guidebooks to locate the otters at otterart.humboldt.edu. Learn all about the charismatic critter, which shares our wild rivers, coastlines, and wetlands. A Junior Otter Spotters "activity booklet" will be available to inspire the young and young at heart.

Otter Art sculptures are available for bidding in a silent auction online throughout the summer, and the highest bid sculptures will be sold in a live auction in September. Proceeds will go to HSU otter research and student internships with community-based watershed projects.

A guidebook – available at each host location and downloadable on the website – shows locations of participating shops, restaurants, and visitor centers. This public arts initiative provides an accessible opportunity to explore our connection with the natural world.

“The initiative arose from a desire to share what we are learning about wild river otters with the community,” said Jeff Black, HSU wildlife professor and project lead. “River otters are at the top of the food chain in coastal watersheds, rivers, and wetlands, and just like us, river otters need clean water and fresh food each day.”

The project encourages community members to participate in the ongoing citizen science river otter records study by consistently reporting when and where wild river otters are observed throughout the North Coast region.

Since 1999, HSU students have been collecting otter records from citizen volunteers as a means of tracking the quality of North Coast habitats. River otters, seen at all times of day in our area, have captured the attention of thousands.

“Some of these wild river otters travel far and wide to find enough food each and every day,” Black said. “River otter numbers are beginning to recover thanks to efforts to restore and clean up habitats, but they need our commitment to ensure their presence in the wild.”

Send details of wild otter observations to otters@humboldt.edu or call (707) 826-3439.

EUREKA STREET ART FESTIVAL

EUREKA – The Eureka Street Art Festival is excited to announce the Mural Apprentice Program, designed to help emerging Humboldt County mural artists gain experience, network and build their resumes.

ESAF wants to encourage the development of new, diverse local mural painting talent, and help artists gain the confidence and experience to create large-scale public art.

This program is intended for artists who are comfortable painting, but struggling to break into the mural scene (or have never tried!)

Apprentices will be paired with one of the mural artists in the 2021 festival, and will assist and learn from them throughout the week.

Apprentices will receive an $900 stipend for their participation, as well as recognition of the ESAF social media pages and website.

Apply online at eurekastreetartfestival.com/apprentice. Applications due Friday, July 2.

- Applicants must be:
- Humboldt County residents with reliable daily transportation to Eureka.
 - Aspiring mural artists who plan to paint additional murals in the future.
 - Available to paint during the festival from Aug. 6 to Aug. 14.
 - At least 18 years of age at the time of application.

Priority will be given to aspiring mural artists who have painting experience but have not painted many murals, and artists from under-represented communities (BIPOC, LGBTQ+, etc.)

This program is made possible by generous funding from the Humboldt Area Foundation.

MORE LIVE MUSIC Red Hot Shame invites the public to enjoy live folkadelic music during Arts! Alive, Saturday, July 3 from 6 to 9 p.m. at Old Town Coffee & Chocolates, 211 F St., Eureka. Public safety radio upgrade project underway

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT

HUMBOLDT – Communication is critical during an emergency and a long overdue radio system improvement project linking first responders and other agencies is underway for the County of Humboldt.

While work has already begun on radio towers in the outlying parts of the county, a significant portion of the project occurred June 16, when crews installed three microwave drum receivers, two antennas and other equipment atop the Courthouse.

The work brings the county one step closer to completion of the improvement project, which will convert the county's entire radio communications system to digital. Currently, not all areas in the county are covered by radio communication due to the limitations of the existing analog system with the county's vast and rugged terrain. The new digital system will change that, allowing for a larger coverage area – something that is especially important for rural parts of the county which are increasingly at risk of wildfire and other emergencies.

"Communication is the cornerstone of any emergency response," said Humboldt County Sheriff William Honsal. "This updated infrastructure will enable us to communicate countywide and will ensure that we have the proper communication in place es, many other county departments rely on the county's radio towers and equipment for communications, including the District Attorney's Office, the Office of Emergency Services, Probation and Public Works Departments.

The entire project is estimated to cost $6.8 million with funding from the County's General Fund, Measure Z, Community Corrections Partnership, County Administrative Office – Information Technology Team, District Attorney's Office and Public Works. The remote structures and equipment are exposed to extreme weather conditions, so proper maintenance is necessary for this project. All the towers will be linked to the Communications Center at the County Courthouse in Eureka.

"Modernizing our communication infrastructure will allow us to gain efficiencies that the digital environment provides, enhance our continuity of government efforts and futureproof our radio system hardware," said Jim Storm, Humboldt County Information Technology Division Director.

The project is expected to be completed by next year.

PONTIAC PROPULSION A gent took his classic 1950s Pontiac for a spin Saturday, and the vintage American steel expired in the middle of a downtown intersection. "From out of nowhere three guys raced over and asked, 'Can we give you a push?'" reports Union photographer Terry Finigan. "I don't know who they are or where they're from, but they've got the Arcata spirit!"

$3 million ramp will connect northbound 101 and 299

MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA – Construction of a new $3 million ramp connecting northbound U.S. Highway 101 to eastbound State Route 299 may be completed by the end of the year.

"The new lane realignment will improve merging movements and is intended to reduce the frequency and severity of collisions," wrote Caltrans Public Information Officer Myles Cochrane in an email.

The new offramp will provide a more gradual turn and may reduce accidents like the one that took place on the morning of

May 14, when the driver of a logging truck apparently took the corner too fast and flipped the rig, spilling logs on the roadway.

After the new connector ramp is completed, the old one will be removed. The project also includes new culverts, lighting and road signs. Communication facilities and electrical utility lines will be relocated outside of Caltrans' right-of-way.

Traffic is expected to be diverted to the new ramp later this year and the entire project may be completed by the end of December, according to Caltrans.
